Create a graphical user interface for the maya command-line renderer. Use the Glade interface designer and the Gtk+ widget set for your GUI (for a basic introduction to Glade, follow the short tutorial in your printed notes). You should be able to reuse some of your code from the curses interface from last week's exercise.